Intro

Our app is intended for students to track their progress in obtaining the Arch Ready Certificate through the UGA Career Center. The main idea behind this app is to streamline the process as much as possible for students and make the tracking portion much more user-friendly for students, as well as the Career Center

User Profiles

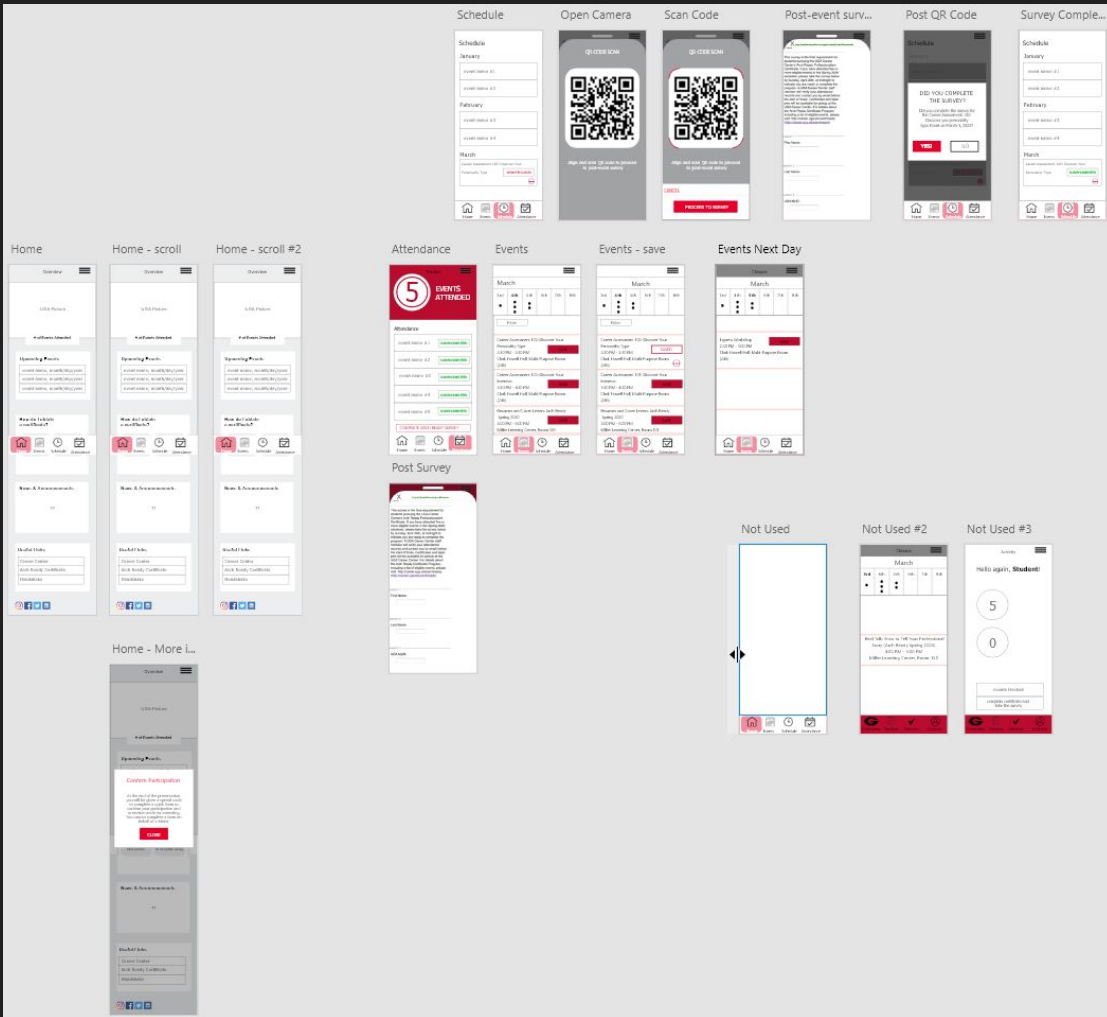

Sydney Kiefert

Is a student at UGA who had heard about the certificate program and was interested in obtaining it, however, did not know the process or how to go about completing it

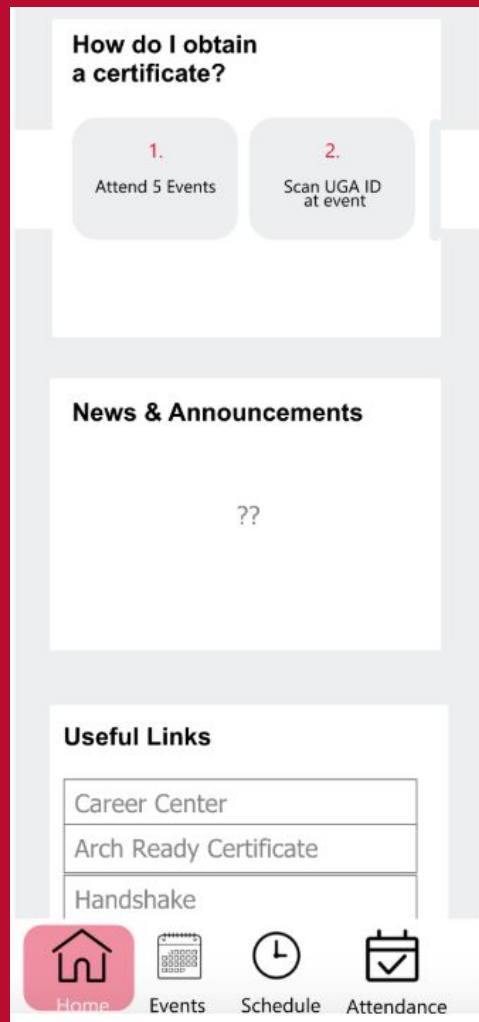

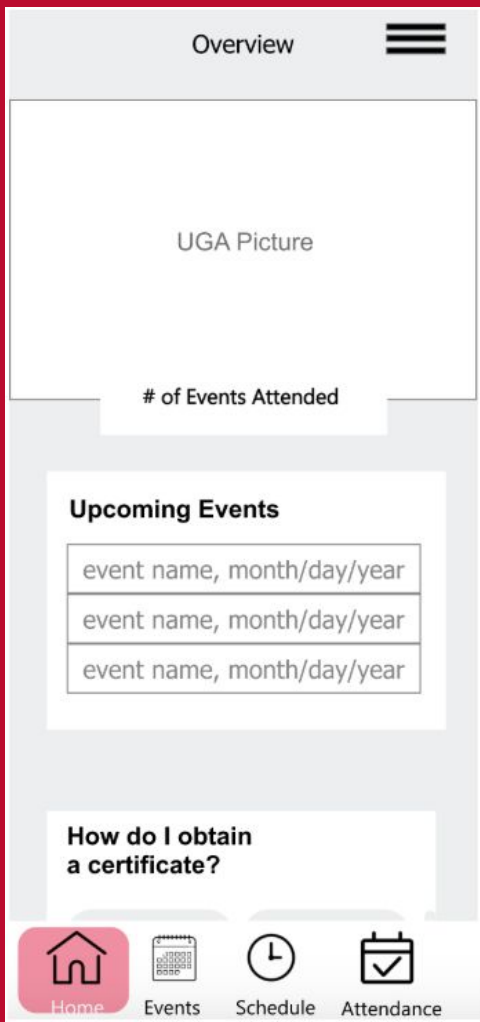

Todd Gallert

Is a student at UGA who has been to multiple events and has obtained the certificate through the career center, but noted that the process was tedious and would benefit greatly from an app

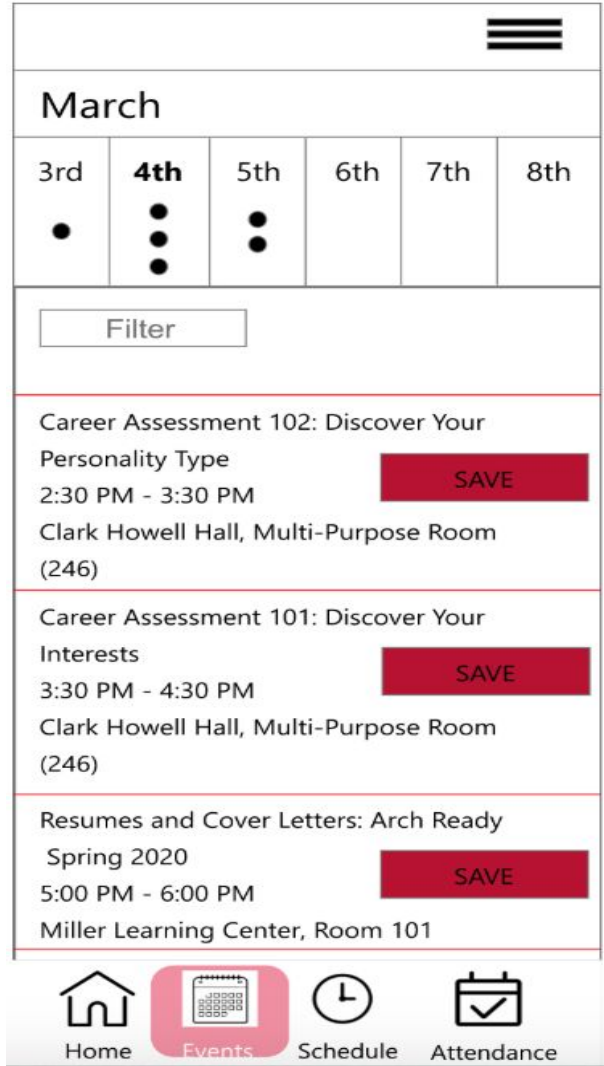

UX Map

Here is a broad view of all of the screens available on the app that help display events, track progress, and allow the completion of surveys

The home pages give an overview of the certificate with upcoming events, as well as news and announcements, and FAQ's

The events tab gives a calendar with event names, locations, and times to help students see what events they can attend. They can also add them to their calendar in their phone by pressing 'save'

The attendance page lets you track your progress and complete surveys after the events have taken place in order to gain credit

Next Steps

The career center would like to use location-based services rather than QR codes for attendance so that will be our next process
